To the class of '98.

Members of the class of 1898, we envy you. We envy you the health and strength of youth and all the other advantages which flow from the newness of the years. Above all, we envy you the chance of making your winter term a period of writing thereon a story of adventure and achievement.

None of us who are about to write the remaining parts of this year shall be able to read or write the story which we have written this morning. We are beginning to think of the spring term and the vacation which we have had here at Miami. We come here, as we will come with the usual permission of getting out of college for a few weeks, with the idea that we are savoring the carefully tempered portion of our opportunities.

At a university like Miami there are so many different ways in which one can expect benefit—lectures, conversations, shared experiences, fine music, fine literature, and so on. One of the greatest problems facing a college today is to select those things which will be of greatest benefit to the curriculum, indeed, to teach a balance in which we feel that we are getting the most possible. As students, as we grow older, it is impossible to take advantage of all facts in here.

What you do here will depend chiefly upon your interests, your abilities and the opportunities when you have. Do nothing that may injure these. If you let them pass you, you will never be able to catch them. Make the most of your opportunities, and you will develop a great deal more than your little self. Develop fewer anxious people.

No matter what you do, however, always remember that scholarship is a prerequisite to almost every college activity. Never, at any time, allow yourself to be drawn by anything into anything which might be harmful to your work. Many people have regretted such mistakes. Moreover, experience has proven that if you will give a reasonable amount of time to your college work, you will be likely to get the most out of it. Indeed, this study, that they will not take an undue amount of time or energy. Many such opportunities are outstanding in scholarship and activities. Few, indeed, are the men and women who have become outstanding in extra-curricular activities who did not have a firm foundation in their first years in college.

We welcome you to Miami, may you make the best of the opportunities which await you here. Remember that the future is made on what you do and what you are here today. That is the Miami spirit.
To all new students:

We bid you welcome as a member of the Miami University community. You have come here if you ever to make use of these. These opportunities take the form of books and laboratories, of instructors who are genuinely interested in your welfare, of fellowships, of the experience that develops character.

Some people profit greatly by college life, others drift along for a short time, and then leave. We hope you have come here to make a worthwhile investment of your time and your money. We shall do the same. We risk the venture abundantly worth while.

From your first day on the campus remember that the officers and faculty are your friends. If any trouble arises, bring it to our attention. We wish you success in your studies, happiness and good luck. We are glad to have you here as one of us.

Cordially yours,

A. H. Upham, President.
Old Miami

(Alma Mater)

Old Miami, from the hill you stand,
Shook your head and looked so grand,
And then the story of your days began,

Old Miami, how you grew,
Along in our minds forever, forever,

These hills and mountains, winds and storms,
Spread them out with your broad arm,

These hills stand a constant beacon,
Crimson waves against the sky,

Let shall ever seek thy guidance,
Power like thine shall never die.

Miami March Song

Miami old, to thee our love we bring,
To thee our hearts and minds we yield ever,

Two days of other days, thy praises on thee,
Call to scenes to sing our praises to thee.

Choose

Love and honor to Ziami,
Our college old and strong,

Worthy we shall ever hold thee,
Gay all the land,

Alma Mater love we shall not lose,

Love and honor to Ziami,
Forever and a day.

Thy close, thy hills, thy skies of azure blue,

To thee in deepest inspiration we pay

Thy glory, crown upon the hills,

To thee do we our grateful homage own.

On land and sea our loyalty will ever be,

The trust, befriend, and can show to thee,

Our duty our in our hearts,

To guard thy name through all eternity.
In the wild frontiers of yesterday
Was founded Miami old,
She has stood her ground in every way,
Defended by heroes bold.
And now, by our united strength
May her banner ever wave, yes.
Him, her, him, she's in step
And cheer Miami on for 3'6'.

(broken strain)
Hone and daughters of Miami,
Ever loyal to Miami,
Come about, jobs in song
As we sing the praises of our dear
Alma Mater.

Knowing these diverse personalities, we see how each one of you will appropriate from the variety of college experiences of interest in some part of your life that will be both helpful and enjoyable in the year ahead.

As you explore all the pleasures of college life and we hope you will find in that but not only the fun of campus days, but the higher ideal of responsibility, we wish you to remember, we who are your seniors, have found the college experience to be the greatest cause of college citizenship.

The campus will be a more interesting place to us because of your presence here, and we like you welcome to all its privileges and opportunities.

Dean of Women.
Since the life of students at a university must conform to the environment at the University and its aims, Miami women have agreed upon certain general considerations to be observed by all students living in halls.

These considerations are embodied in the following standards of living which should apply equally to all Miami women living in halls and dorms at any time during the college year.

Quiet: Resident study hours.

Quiet: Between 11:30 P.
M. and 6:30 A. M.

Closing hour: 10 p.m. on all nights except Saturday, 11 p.m. on Saturday.

Residence—Guests are expected to abide by the standards in place for Miami residents. Guests, including girls are advised to exercise the greatest deference for the living quarters of halls and dorms.

Residence—All students sign out for any absence from hall or college in advance. They must sign out from town during any or evening.

Social life:
Socials are concentrated at week-ends, on Friday evening, Saturday and Sunday. During the week residents are asked to stay in their rooms in the evening hours.

Uppers: Students—The privileges of attending certain other events may be granted to upperclass students who make arrangements in advance.

Freshmen—It is the policy of an upperclass student who is wishing to attend a social event not to be held in social places.

Pork—It is a rule of the University that students may not bring alcoholics during their stay. Alcohol possessions by students who have a part of student life except as social entertainment is to be given by the halls.

House.—All women, attending dances, should sit on the lower floor or informally seat themselves in the halls and colleges immediately after the dance has ended. Attendance privileges during the dance but not after hours of dancing.

Students who plan to leave the college for any persons or for any reason must inform their respective halls and colleges that they will be absent. They are then notified that they can return and continue their studies.

Any student who leaves the college without the written consent of the principal, must be excused by a letter from parents, principals and heads of houses. If attendance is not resumed, the student must be admitted in the fall. The student must be specified in the principal's permission.
Smoking—Miami women are urged not to smoke, but there is no general university rule which prohibits them from doing so. Smoking is not permitted in residence halls which have a no-smoke available for such a purpose. Permission is given in all residence halls which have a room available for such a purpose, permission is given in all residence halls in which smoking is not prohibited.

Bouquet—"Bouquet" rides to and from Oxford is prohibited.

Chaparone—Approved chaparone is required for all meetings, dances, etc. for any purpose whatever at a man's chapter house or dormitory. Approval of the chaparone is required for any trips or overnight stays at a man's dormitory facilities for outdoor swimming. Such permission must be given.

Pleasure—Report group parties with music, to Social Director, nearest in time and place.

All Miami women are asked to conduct themselves in such a way as not to interfere with public order or to reflect upon the standards of Miami University.

THE WOMEN'S LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

The purpose of the Women's Legislative Council is to create a code of conduct for women that fosters both progress and maintains high standards of university life, and to render all matters of student interest not falling under jurisdiction of the faculty. The council is represented by the woman members of the Student-Faculty Council and any members of the Women's Disciplinary Board not already members of the Student-Faculty Council.

FRESHMAN "Y"

Freshman Y. W. C. A. is the big thing for freshman girls, the place to get acquainted, with other girls and to have so much fun. A great help in finding your college career.

Each freshman secretory has its own Freshman "Y" for the girls living there and the officers, each who are there, are chosen from the girls living in that dorm. The meetings are held twice a month and are arranged in such a way that the girls are presented with something interesting and vital to freshman girls in the social, cultural, and educational line.

The high point of this year's career was the "Campus Bridge," held in the Grant room of Oxford College February 17. The "Y" organizations of first and second years were combined in planning and in arranging this bridge-to which all women on the campus were invited.

Yes, you are invited to the "Campus Bridge," where you will meet the girls of freshman class in the most natural place to know each other and have fun.

FRATERNITY BIDDING RULES

As fraternity is allowed to such as pledge a man before TUESDAY, of freshmen, at 4 o'clock.

But such fraternity is allowed only two weeks after the first meeting of term, in any case. These are not allowed to make any approach to any known as a holder for the purpose, except in authorized group efforts.

An impartial faculty committee will have the headquarters in the Treasurer's office, and will meet during the first week of school. To this committee all violations of rules should be reported immediately.

MIAMI UNIROY

In order that the independent men at a college may have a free opportunity of participating in the social, intellectual, and spiritual life of the student body, the following rules are adopted:

Union was founded a few years ago, and membership in this organization is open to all independents of age. This organization in many respects resembles the national fraternity, but operates under the fraternity for a fraternity man.

BIDS FOR FRESHMAN MEN

Firstly, bid early, for the traditions of the Old Miami boy, given away to the ideal, are the ideal. Chautauqua, collecting in the same fraternity, changing the traditions of the Old Miami boy, have given way to a new environment that we cannot hold down. From now, however, the Freshmen's life in their new environment will be constructive efforts toward fulfilling the Freshman to his new environment. A few commons and fraternities have been let off, because they are so free. See that you follow them in the steps.

1. All Froshmen keep their little red and white caps the first Friday after Christmas, except those who have decided with a similar requirement at another school for the period, for the purpose of wearing them at all times while in College. They are asked to be worn by being permitted and during the winter season before the spring term, while in Oxford.

2. At least one head fraternities meeting is held each fall, usually before the biggest events of the season. All Froshmen are expected to attend, and be in the good company for the best meetings of this year, and the evenings program. Each Froshman plans to attend the former classes in this event.
AFTER every athletic event, whether played on 90 or 108 yards, the students of the school should be present. All events should commence for a hour in hour. The nearer the bell is rung, the closer the inspection gained of the performances by their elders. Night school applications shall bring a date to any extra meeting or university examination.

ATHLETICS

The rule which prohibits the presence of an athlete in Oxford during the school hour is one which is not necessary for the good of the student. In fact, not only the faculty but also a large part of the student body consider it a very desirable rule.

The first place in sport is not necessary for transportation within Oxford, as there are several means of getting around the city in minutes. The school day usually lasts for about two hours, while the average distance is about three blocks.

The school has a strong sense of community and would be more of a burden if it were not for the belief that the possession of an auto usually has a detrimental influence on the mind of the student. It is recognized that the student body with the main purpose of the University. This, together with the strong influence of the school, makes it clear that the school should stand by the "double" in order to reflected in a lowered standard of academic achievement.
Miami came through with its usual flair in the Engineers' football game with the University of Cincinnati, the American Athletic Conference. The Engineers defeated Cincinnati in the annual Thanksgiving Day game to begin their final game in football, and by taking first place in the conference for the third time in the last four years. The Engineers' victory was the second in a row for Captain Julian Wilton, although the record in basketball and baseball were not so maintained, and good Freshmen material, and a large graduating class enable him to bring them to the front this year.

Fresh Wilton put in a brilliant campaign to resist the efforts of the Ohio State University, and a score in the Indiana game was made by a better player in the last few minutes of the season. At the time during the season when the Indianapolis and the University teams met the final score was 28 to 0; the only other victory of the season over the Miami Team.

An undefeated Cincinnati team lost in a last-minute final bid for the Ohio Union Cup. In one of the greatest games in the history of the University, the Miami footballers defeated the University of Cincinnati, 14 to 13, in the final minutes of the game. The Engineers' third straight victory was a thrilling one, and gave the Engineers the championship of the Big Ten Conference.

BASKETBALL

St. John's did not have a successful season last year, finishing fourth in the conference, with a record of 14 out of 14 games, eigth out of the ten conference games. After losing three of the five games that preceded the conference season, the Engineers defeated Wittenberg in the Buckeye Conference; then followed a victory over the University of Pennsylvania. The Engineers then played in the Conference championships, but lost to the University, 22 to 10. The Engineers were defeated in the final game by returning to their old form.

Although four of the Senior players and three reserves will be gone this year, the outlook is hopeful because of the vast recruiting for each class, and the strong Freshmen squad ensuing.

GOLF

Along with tennis, golf was inauguratd as a varsity men's sport at Miami last fall. The opening of the new golf course in the Botanical Gardens made this possible. Several ex-cptional golf players were uncovered and as the sport is more fully organized this year, it is expected to take its place among the other minor sports at Miami.

Athletic Association

All students at Miami are members of the Athletic Association. In a personal letter to each student, the President of the University states that every student becomes a member of the Athletic Association and receives a book of tickets to the games played by the Miami teams. Though the tickets are not redeemable, they are non-transferable.

Athletic Board of Control

The Board is composed of five faculty members appointed by the President of the University, and three students elected by membership of the Athletic Association. The Board in turn selects between approved schedules and the control of all policies of athletics.

In the winter of 1925, several Ohio coaches met to discuss the future of the conference, which had become less competitive. At this meeting a schedule-making group, called the Athletic Administrators, met and announced that they would not maintain the strength of the conference. Ohio University and West Virginia University were in an equivalent position as the conference leaders, and the conference was not strong enough to maintain its standards.

In 1926, the Ohio Conference requested the conference association to amend its constitution and rules, and the amendment was made. The conference had previously withdrawn from the Ohio Conference, and the amendment was made to prevent this from happening again.

This organization now has its own constitution, rules, and bylaws, as well as eligibility rules. The eligibility rules are more strict than those of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which have been known to comply with the rules in 1926 and was forced to withdraw, but no assurance that it would abide by the rules more stringently was re-asserted a year later.

In 1928, the Ohio Conference met and stated that they were considering the possibility of a conference return. At this conference of the 1928 basketball season, both schools decided that they would not continue in the class of Competition the Buckeyes offered, and that therefore they could not become regular members of the Conference. The realization of these two took effect at the end of the 1925 football season, and the Ohio Conference decided to call the competition the Buckeyes offered.

Marshall College, of Huntington, West Virginia, applied for membership at the December, 1925, meeting, and was admitted to probationary membership. The Ohio Conference then voted to merge with the 1925-1926 basketball season.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

Not many years back in the history of our colleges and universities and in the community of most of us, there was only one type of intercollegiate athletics, the "rough and tumble" variety. The object of this form of athletics was to get a glimpse of the different types of men that were at the various institutions. There was no system of intercollegiate athletics of any physical or intellectual type. The students were glad to get a glimpse of the other institutions and vice versa.

Then came the World War and America entered into the struggle to free mankind from the injustices of the past. This period was one of great activity and advancement in the conduct of the War. The physical activity of the soldiers and sailors brought about a new type of athletics, the "rough and tumble" type, the "battle" type. This type of athletics included all sorts of physical exercises of the highest order. It was this type of athletics that was developed into the intercollegiate type of athletics.

The intercollegiate type of athletics is divided into three main classes: the intramural, the varsity, and the junior varsity. The intramural program is divided into three main classes: Ichabod, the intramural, and the junior varsity. Ichabod is the name of the intramural program.

The intramural program is divided into the following three main classes: Ichabod, the intramural, and the junior varsity. Ichabod is the name of the intramural program.

In order to give more of the new men at the University a chance to participate and to become acquainted with the intercollegiate and junior varsity programs, the intramural program was initiated by the Intercollegiate Department in 1913. These programs, in the fall of the year, are open to the freshmen class, and in the winter to all other students.

Activities
THE SPEAKER'S BUREAU

Last year Miami discontinued, to a large extent, the old form of intercollegiate debate, and inaugurated a new type of competition in the way of public speaking. The organization is called the "Miami Oratory Club." This organization is focused after the proverbial speaker's bureau which has existed for many years. Speakers all over the country, free of charge, to any organization which requests them. In short, when money is not spend for professional speakers, are set aside. The club has been widely recognized and accepted.

In the one year which it has existed, the Speaker's Bureau has become one of the most important of the campus activities. Students in any and all departments of the university have received speakers from the bureau. They have been most appreciative of the service.

Their services have been utilized by organizations of all kinds - high school audiences in Kentucky and Rotary Clubs.

The experience which is gained through such an organization is invaluable and of a much more practical value than merely debate. All the students who have participated in the meeting of the bureau and the neighboring community have been recognized and approved as qualified to carry their ideas through the medium of the bureau's bureau.

THE DRAMATIC WOODSHOP
This year in a new organization, Ye Morrie Players, approximately every three weeks, plays are presented before the University community. Plays are carefully selected, both to test the skill of the actors and the audience. Though the groups are composed of volunteers, the plays are highly praised, the performances being held in the Workshop Theatre, located in Main Building. Each play is presented in a "neco" style, the tickets being sold beforehand. Organizers believe that this method attracts a larger audience than the traditional method of posters and announcements. Amazingly, the group is composed of students with a wide variety of backgrounds, and the plays reflect the diversity of the student body. "M" BOOK
THE LOW-DOWN

The following pages have been prepared with the one thought in mind—to make things easier for you once you arrive in Oxford. Most of you are students and are used to moving around from college to college, but some of you are not. Here is a brief introduction of the city. Read the relevant sections, check carefully, and follow the instructions which are made.

NEW STUDENTS

When you arrive in Oxford, whether you think it or not, you will find it a little confusing. Don't worry: you, we or she will tell you where to go and what to do. Do not be afraid of asking people for directions. We know the city very well and, furthermore, they are used to meeting strangers and are sympathetic with you.

If you do not know the number of the college, you can look it up immediately in the Guide to Women and men to 36, special books in which you will find the information you need.

Your room will be in the same building as your department. Make your room comfortable for the first day by cleaning the room, ironing your clothes, and by having the food you will eat for the next two days ready. Make your bed in the same way as you are used to it for a week afterwards, and a comfortable room is a great pleasure for housemates.

- Students are required to bring their own sheets, pillowcases, and blankets.

If you are uncertain about what to bring, contact the housekeeper or another person from the housekeeping staff. They can also help you with any questions you may have.
The material outlined for the work is covered in about eight high school semesters and lecture meetings. The first semester is given over to several weeks of orientation, a week of orientation, a week of orientation, and a week of orientation. Registration fees will vary up to about one hundred former students, depending on courses and varying costs.

FRANKLIN TIPS

From the vast store of knowledge of apparatus comes the following paragraph. It is hoped that some of the tips which are given here will be useful to you, and that you will be able to find them of value and save you some trouble and even embarrassment, later on.

Meet your Adviser. From now on when things go wrong of when you are in trouble with your work, don’t be afraid to go to your Adviser. He has a long time and he understands your problems.

FRANKLIN Week was inaugurated for your benefit. In it every meeting you will hear from Professors and Students. There will be valuable information given, at each one which you can’t afford to miss.

Get acquainted with Oxford and know your way around by the time the upper classmen get back. Get into the swing of things and make a good impression on your adviser. It pays.

As soon as you get settled in your room, find out who lives around you. Those people will be your friends for they are your classmates and life on you.

If your proctor doesn’t call on you, hunt him up. He’s there to assist you and you must make use of it. He can’t help you if he doesn’t know you.

Play out the rules of the dormitory with the proctor. If a copy of the rules isn’t supplied you, find out from someone in authority. It may save you considerable embarrassment later.

The hall staff has a list of all the names. Get it and give it to them, and don’t stand on the Militia. Make your presence known. Get into the swing of things.

Forget your High School record. You are a Harvard Man now, and you will be jumped up by what you do here, not what you did in high school.

Remember that you’re here to make a four-year man by having your First Day a Success. Make sure you are prepared. If you don’t get behind you’ll find that your progress won’t be different later on.

Keep that your friend with whom you read for the first few weeks. You’ll never regret it.

Go out for some activity and stay out. The experience and the contacts that will result from the activity you take up will enrich your stay.

The rumors which you do hear will be appreciated.

In all your work, on work days and on work free days, it is better to start early. The work which is assigned will be appreciated.

MIAMI CHEER DRIVE

Recent years the members of the Student Body were bothered with numerous calls to contribute to various activities of the University and the several clubs. As a result of these calls a group of students organized the Student Body Association, and charitable necessities formed a separate campaign each fall to raise funds for various purposes. The student body, as a result of this, have always contributed their share of money to the various causes, but were thoroughly unsatisfied with the results.

In 1925 it was decided to unite these various activities into a single fund raising drive, known as the MIAMI CHEER DRIVE. This drive was made by a special committee of faculty and students and the general student body was requested to organize cheer parties on the various campus locations, to give cheer talks in the dormitories and to help support the drive.

The purpose of the MIAMI CHEER DRIVE is to help support the Varsity Football Team and its activities.
