President's Message

The need today is for wise leadership and a higher level of competent and informed men and women. Fortunately, indeed, is the student who has the opportunity of setting aside college years in which to gather the information, procure the discipline of accurate thinking, and equip himself with the knowledge that will be used throughout the later years of life. Miami warmly welcomes all those who seriously desire to take advantage of the opportunities she so profitably supplies. You have the wall niches and fields of those at home, but the responsibility of molding that confidence and faith cannot be lightly shifted aside. The serious years ahead call for greater intellectual maturity and understanding.

Although the attainment of wisdom comes late, it is equally important to take full advantage of the pleasurable social life of the campus and to train both the mind and the personality. Neither should be shallow. Miami has long been known for the training of the complete person. This calls for a sure and sensible readjustment to the liberties and responsibilities of the college community, where higher standards are maintained than those fixed in average communities, simply because the world has come to the point where the college is supposed to furnish the continual advancing standards in a progressive civilization.
Many of your predecessors now refer to Miami University as their alma mater. In fact, it is the mother Indiana talks, the word, Miami, means mother. During your stay on the campus may your affections deepen, your hopes and aspirations widen, your vision of your opportunities lengthen, and your will to achieve an education strengthen. To you all Miami sends a hearty welcome.
ERNEST H. HAHN,
President.

OLD MIAMI
Words by President A. H. Upham
Music by E. H. Burke

I

Old Miami, from thy hillcrest
Thou first watched the decades roll,
While thy proud years have quoted from thee
Shady-hearth, pure of soul.

Chorus
Old Miami! New Miami!
Days of old and days to be.
Weave the story of thy glory.
Our Miami, here's to thee.

II

Aging is the simple splendor,
Thou the calm and they the storm.
Thou didst give them joy and comfort,
Strength from thee outlined their arms.

III

Thou shalt stand a constant beacon,
Ciphers towers against the sky.
Meth shall ever seek the guiding Power of those who never die.

MERRIAM HALL OF THE TWO RED TOWERS

MIAMI UNIVERSITY
"Old Miami, from thy hillock Thou hast watched the decades roll..."

Old Miami has watched more than twelve decades of active existence roll by since its first president took office in 1824, and the history of its founding can be traced back even further. As early as 1788 a group of the famous "Fenian Pioneers" stated that "an academy and other institutions of learning" were to be established within the bounds of that piece of land. Although this provision was apparently forgotten, in 1809 the Ohio legislature set aside Oxford township as the site of a state university. This is regarded as the official founding of Miami University.

It was not until 1824, however, when the Rev. Robert H. Bishop, O.D., became president, that Miami actually started functioning, once taking its place among the outstanding schools of the West. It was during the first years of Miami's existence that William McGuffey, one of the great men of American education, worked in association with Dr. Bishop, the course of studies offered at Miami about this time was as unusual, classical one, which gave rise to several literary societies. Enthusiast was one of the first of these and it was soon followed by the Eastern society, Alpha Delta Phi, which soon sprang up among these various societies, including the early formed Beta Theta Pi. Finally were the clubs of the famous "Fenian Rebellion" of 1847, in this rebellion the students protested faculty action by rolling a huge snowball up to the door of "Old Main," thereby blocking the doorway and quite effectively putting a stop to classes temporarily at least.

Miami continued to grow and prosper until the years of the Civil War. The small enrollment was sharply reduced by the war, and during the post-war years, changing conditions and advancing prices finally forced the doors of Miami to be closed in 1873. Twelve years later, once more alive, the university was reopened and in 1887 women were enrolled. It was only a few years after the co-education of Benjamin Harrison, class of '92, was nominated to run for President of the United States, an event which caused a major celebration on the campus.

The publicity which Miami received with the election of Harrison was apparently permissible for the university continued to grow and prosper. As the number of students increased, the campus grew from its original 100 acres to the 300 acres now in use. One of the most important additions was the Oxford College for Women which was entered to Miami in 1928, after almost a century of existence as an independent educational institution.

The curriculum was also gradually changed, and more emphasis was allowed in the choice of courses. In 1932 a teachers college was added, providing for the training of teachers and school administrators. It was followed by the School of Business Administration, taken from the College of Arts and Science in 1935, the School of Fine Arts in 1926, and the Graduate School, which was recognized in 1946.

During the war, the United States Navy was quite prominent on the Miami campus, taking over 7,000 men and women in their radio school, school for cooks and bakers, and 17th program. In 1945, a permanent ROTC unit was established.

Post-war Miami, with its recent enrollment, is continuing in the mood of expansion, and its 7,000 students may well be proud to sing these words from the Alma Mater:

"Old Miami! New Miami! Days of old and days to be Waxen the story of its glory! Our Miami, band to thee!"

TRADITION

From its by-gone coursed foundations to the spires of Harlina hall and the Bula belltower Miami is the stronghold of traditions. Freshmen soon learn about these Miami customs during freshmen week and immediately after a special Tradition Night the Freshman men carry on the fine old tradition of seconding the women's dormitories. At the very first football game the freshmen meet the Bigs, Miami's number one royster, whose famous predictions always favor Miami. In his white suit with red trimmings and his little red parasol Thelma has been a fixture of football games for many years, if the Mobilia says (or perhaps we should say when the Mobilia bet) the Freshman men ring the bell or Harrison Hall to celebrate the team's victory.

Homecoming weekend is a great occasion for tradition, alumni and everyone concerned. Fraternity houses are decorated, and the possibles build float which parade at the half of the football game. A king and queen are crowned also and the queen re-cieves a kiss from the captain of the football team.

On Friday night before the great game a big pep rally opens the festivities. The band leads the parade down to Cook field where the freshest men have gathered enough wood to light a huge bonfire.

Saturday evening after the gams the first formal dance of the year is held. In the almost attend and Whiffle is as practical as business at the venue.

Thanksgiving Day at Miami is an occasion of giving thanks only after the Redbirds have defeated the Bearcats of Cincinnati. This big game of the year is played in City and features a mass migration of Miamians to the big city. This year the "Turkey Day game" will probably decide the Mid-America conference title.

At Christmas time groups from the dorms traditionally carol-sing. Than comes the mass exodus as everybody goes home for that big vacation before exams begin. In the spring the freshmans, girls get their big chance to carry on one of the finest traditions of Miami. They plan and carry out May Day: the occasion for banding out, crowning women by tapping them for Mai-ter Board, senior women's honorary, and her Owen, the sorority honorary, to which all freshmans hope to be chosen. Freshman dormitories carry out parts of the program, such as the songs, or the May pole dance, or the crowning of the Queen of the May. This title is one of the greatest honors which can come to any Miami woman. The Queen is elected from among the members of Monitor Board by the freshmen.

women.

After the Impoting ceremony the lucky women are crowned in their gowns by theBeta members of the honorary.

Mother's Day weekend has also become a tradition at Miami. All the mothers come down to visit and to sleep in their off-spring's beds while their youngsters bunk wherever they can. Freshmen enter into the motherly spirit and on Sunday morning all the seniors hold special breakfasts for the mothers and afterward the members and their mothers aend church together.

If Earth does not fall on a Sunday during Spring vacation many Miamians arise early enough to attend the sunrise service at Western and then attend church in their new finery.

The Junior-Senior breakfast is another traditional occasion in the spring. The junior women invite the senior women to a special breakfast as a farewell to the academic year. When the picnic season arrives Miamians may wander down to the old Covered Bridge and there view the boats come into it by past generations of students. Traditionally those who cross their initials is the bridge must some day return to Miami. The Inter-Fraternity ship, the Triad dance, the carol-singing for freshmen included in the traditional annals of Miami, the Mother of Freshmen.

Oxford represents what most people call the traditional college town, it stands peace-fully on one of the highest hills in Ohio, be-tween Bell Rox and the Tallawanda River. It is 35 miles northwest of Cincinnati, and 15 miles west of Hamilton. Regardless of the direction from which you approach Oxford, you see the widely scattered homes of the University scattered against the sky.

The schools, Miami and Western College for Women, lend the atmosphere which dominates the village. In spring and autumn, the sports, golf course, and ball fields are crowded with students participating in extra-mural sports. The cooler parts through the winter and down to the formal gardens near the Bell Rox and putting up with occasional occu-pants during the season of the year.

Route 27 will be the best route to follow into Oxford if you come from the northeast through Richmond. If you are coming from the northwest, Routes 61-29, or 127, will join you with Route 73. Turn west on Route 73 and keep going until you see those white towers.

At Richmond, Indiana, connections can be made on the Pennsylvania railroad for all points on the St. Louis-Washington-New York line. You can make connections on the New York Central for Cleveland and New York at Middletown. The firm who are anywhere bound may take the Baltimore and Ohio to Cincin-nati and from there take trains to all parts of the East and South. You can take the 8 & O trains on the Detroit-Cincinnati line of either Hamilton and Richmond, Indiana.

But lines connect Middletown, Dayton, Hamilton, and Richmond, Indiana, directly with Oxford, and bus lines from those cities radiate to abeab any other place you would wish to go.

If you are in a hurry, Dayton, Hamil-ton, and Cincinnati have airline facilities.

As for the traditional hitch-hiking mode of travel, with a very Miami sticker on your suit-case, we would like to take the opportunity to issue a bit of advice. It's really much better for the boy that travels on bus ticket and have assurance of a safe arrival.

Telephone rates, station-telephones after 6-60. To many of the major cities in Ohio are under one dollar, so is case you get the urge to hear first that famous voice from home, a collect call won't increase your parents' telephone bill too much.

Well, that's it—Oxford in a nutshell. Good luck and we'll see you there.
SONGS

TWO RED TOWERS
Two red towers silhouetted against the sky,
Two old girls! Walk with all of our friends passing by,
Our road we will travel together,
No matter how scattered we be.
On memory lane we will meet once again
And sing to thee, Miami.

MIAMI MARCH SONG
Words and music by R. H. Burke
Miami old, to thee our love we bring,
In thee our hearts and minds we ever cling.
Thy fame of other days, thy gifts so rare
Call us today to sing our praise to thee.

Chorus
Line and honor to Miami,
Our college old and grand.
Proudly we shall your hall thee
Over all the land.
Alma Mater now we praise thee,
Sing joyfully this day.
Line and honor to Miami.
Forever and a day.
When you arrive on Miami's campus for the first time on Sunday, September 12, you will be happy to find that you will have a few hours in which to get your bearings without the confusing indecision of the freshman who won't return until Friday, September 18.

Shortly after your arrival, you will be handed a printed schedule of events and will find that you will be kept pretty busy during these days. First of all, you will be required to take one of three famous "psychological tests." You didn't know there were tests during the summer, which will be of vital importance in determining your attitudes in certain fields. You will be some time from head to toe during the routine physical examination by this time you have already mastered your health questionnaire.

During the week you will find yourself part of a group headed by a professor and a student assistant. They will be glad to answer any questions that you may have. Sometimes during the early part of the week, you will be conducted on a tour of the campus and will be able to begin learning the names and locations of some of the main buildings and landmarks, such as Houll Hall and the Bates Bells.

Finally Freshman Week will also see you standing in your first cafeteria—and if you have a sturdy pair of shoes and a good toothbrush pen to sign something paper, you should be able to survive in good health.

In addition to the social activities that you and your new-found friends will initiate, there will be "classes" organized by various social groups of the campus to help you get to know your fellow classmate. After several small excursions and investigations of the campus on your own, you will be well equipped to undertake the next year's classes, with confidence and will soon be a well-versed Miami student.

ARRIVAL IN OXFORD

After looking ahead for so long a time, your actual arrival on campus will be quite an event. Although some of you have visited campus before, for many of you that glimpse... of the towers and roofs on Sunday, Septem-ber 12 will be the first.

Since men and women have different things to do, the first meeting in Oxford, here are a few directions and words of advice to the ladies.

The very first thing to check is if you have any libraries. If you don’t, you can help with the library, and of course the ladies will want to know what the town is going to be like. You’ll undoubtedly be the housekeeper and a counselor of some sort, so it’s important to get acquainted with them. You’ll be mighty important people in your life for the next year.

After you get to your room and park in the room of clothes, you’ll certainly want to meet the two most important people in your room: your counselor and your roommate. Your counselor is usually the person you’ll be writing letters to. She’ll be a valuable assistant in helping you over the bumps of a freshmen year. She was a freshmen herself a year ago and is well qualified to advise you.

You will probably receive a sheet with the freshmen Freshman week schedule. This contains directions for your activities the rest of the week. Take good care of it. Perhaps you have already met your roommate, a very nice, quiet, person who is an artist.

If so, you might already have loads of plans concerning the color scheme and decorations of the room. If not, that’s something to decide right away so you can start arranging the room and getting it in living condition.

The room may be small, so it’s best to delegate the closet and dresser space right away and get things put in their proper place. If you happen to be the first arrivals in the room, it’s best to wait until your roommate show up. She may not get impressed if you took your pick of the beds. Helped on by the top drawers and look the least-closet-spaced. Start off on the right foot by being considerate of your roommate. She’ll appreciate it and you’ll be off the right foot to swell friendships.

After the Sunday evening convocation is over, you’ll probably want to find more time to get into bed and relax. But in such luck, you’ll probably find that your counselor for a counselor in your living arrangement with all of these people is the best. Your counselor is the person who will be the one to come to her for refreshments and who will be the one to come to you for help.

about the business of finding your room is easier than you could have imagined. Once you arrive in Oxford, it is advisable that you make your way to Barton Hall where you will be told your dorm and room number and directed to the right office for the procurement of your keys.

Once this is done, go to your dorm and find the Head of Residence. He'll unresistingly be in the corridor waiting for you. He'll be your Dutch Uncle during your first year. He wants to see you and get accquainted as soon as possible. This is also a good chance to introduce the folks if they brought you in the family Ford. The Head of Residence will tell you that you are shown to your room and will answer any questions.

Once you get to the room, drop those things and feel like it. If your roommate is there, as the case may be, hasn't arrived, why not wait for them before deciding which drawers are yours, and which bed is going to be glued by your feet. It's guaranteed to get you off on the right foot in your relations with your roomie.

On every floor of every dorm there will be a counselor whose business it is to help you with any problems, questions, how large or small, that might arise. He'll answer any questions and give you the dope about rules and regulations. He's a good fellow to know.

Posted in your room you'll also find a list of regulations that, if followed with a fair degree of sincerity, will do much to keep your room clean. They're sensible rules. They suggest the things that any normal person would do of his own accord. Think about it. They're quite logical.

Once you've opened your luggage, it might not be wise to take your clothes and put them up. Get a few things put away and then add about a bit. Wander up and down the hall and acquaint yourself with your neighbors. Walk around the campus with a few of them and begin cementing those friendships.

WHAT TO BRING

When you have been passed by the front office in Barton, and you know for sure that Miami is going to be your new home, that awful thought of packing and when to bring comes forth. It's a pretty difficult task to tell you just what to bring but we'll try to give you an idea of what will be useful and you can take it from there.

The greatest single thing to remember is that you are going to be living in a com-

28

Prettily small room with another person or two. Don’t bring everything you own. Why not just bring a medium amount of clothing and supplies? You will always dash a little off to the folks and have them lend the little things you find you’ll need.

As for the girls, that little list your future matron of honor has is a small guide. You can’t go wrong by including all these items plus some more you probably had thought about, but remember that your roomies will undoubtedly bring it all as much.

Just as diversified, skirts, sweaters, blouses and boxes and who, taffeta shoes make up the nucleus of a college wardrobe. The number of each depends naturally on your financial means. For those hot summer days in the fall, you’ll want some cotton gym mist. Multi-colored head scarfs are worn for almost any occasion.

Rats has a habit of finding its way to Ox, ford and consequently you’ll have loads of opportunities to see a good-looking, water-proof raincoat, a bright umbrella and a pair of your favorite boots.

Coats and jackets add a lot to your wardrobe. Don’t forget a hat for Sundays and teas.

For field trips, bikes and picnics, leins and slacks, a couple of a gos old white skirts, and a beat up pair of sandals are a must. Field shirts have come into their own and can be worn on numerous occasions.

When you want to appear a bit more sophisticated, an afternoon dress or two will come in handy. Black dresses are usually worn at sorority rush parties and the annual May Day ceremonies rather or a white one. Suits are most helpful. Of course you’ll want to include a formal or two for the formal dinners along with all the accessories. Appropriately shoes to go with the various outfits should be included.

Here is a selected the perfect wardrobe. With smart decorations for the room, matching towels and drapes do much to enlightening the atmosphere. An extra pillow, dresser stool, throw rug and other little incidentals all go to make the place a bit more like home.

If you bring several pairs of shoes, a shoe bag that hangs on the back of the closet door will save valuable space. The all-important wastebasket. Possibly a little stand for the radio, your favorite stuffed doll, a dresser light and a shower cap should be added to the list.

You must furnish your own linens—sheets and pillow cases—since the university will launder. Of course you’ll want several blankets for the winter months. Softed slippers help keep the noise down, but you might also want shower clings.

Along the miscellaneous line, we suggest: 30 wash clothes, towels, soap and a soap dish, drinking glass and silver for the midnight snacks, bottle opener, dust cloth, folding books and a laundry bag for the household bound dirty clothes. A hammer and nail comes handy if you can spare them.

If you don't bring all the things you need, a little trip up town and a bit of cash will solve the problem. The stores are prepared to meet your needs.

You fellows probably have a good idea on just what you want to bring so we'll just stir along with you. Common styles for men aren't so very different from those you might see anywhere, but they do have a flavor typical to only Manila.

Shoes are as useful here as they are at home for school, civic dates, movies and the like. Anything that vaguely resembles a skirt will be useful. Most of the boys will be sandal, buy the laundromat and you'll need enough shoes to tide you over while mom is working on the mended ones. They go well with sweaters for which you will find a great need.

As for suits, Chino's, tweeds, worsted, oxford cord and Bedford cloth are all popular. For the button roll in double breasted suit is worn to good advantage by many of the local ladies. At any rate, your trunk should include at least one dress and one flashy light suit.

To go with the suits, you might want one or two shirts with French cuffs. They are as popular as the domino head dress just as and give you a chance to come out with some fancy jewelry.

You will find American styles as to what constitutes a good necktie wardrobe, but again you'll want a good supply. Bows ties are always at home on campus, either for formal or class wear, along with the ever-popular four-in-hand. Don't forget a few kibits of assorted colors.

Bring a pair of good work shoes and whatever brolgas you have. Sandals, slippers and loafers are personal and the nucleus of almost any casual outfit.

As for those suit jackets, fit or tails are predominantly that many of the fellows still wear a one piece suit. All designs are semi-formal and it is not a matter of necessity. How-ever, a pair of slacks should be brought along together with a pair of shiny black shoes.

In some to include a watch. You'll have plenty of use for it. Trench coats are fashionable but anything that shades water will be a blessing. A heavy overcoat for the blustery days is also a must. In case you ski skiing, better bring along some gym shirts, tennis shoes, and any athletic equipment you own.

Also a pair or two of cotton socks for pic-nics come in handy.

Your mom is going to be headquarters for everything you do, and naturally you'll want
It to be comfortable. You might want to bring some of mother’s old draperies for the barn windows. If you want to be fancy, include a couple of throw rugs and a scarf for the dresser.

Some folks who come to college to study will want an inexpensive bookshelf for books, paper, and all the little odds and ends they collect. Rather than invest in bookshelves, many fellows set orange crates on top of each other and store their learning tools there.

As for bedclothes, the university supplies the sheets and pillow cases but you must bring your own blankets. Two should suffice for the bad and possibly an old one for picnics would be advisable.

You’ll certainly want a picture of the “one and only,” to decorate the dresser and perhaps a few favorite prints. Remember you can’t stick anything to the walls though, and by all means, don’t forget that lovely alarm clock to insure presence at eight o’clock. If you have a radio, you’ll want it but check with the cosmetologist about radio regulations.

There’s lots of other things like toilet articles, slippers, pipe, bathtub and such but you know you’ll need them. Remember that you will be making Miami your home for the next four months so prepare yourself acccordingly.

DORM LIFE FOR WOMEN

Freshman dormitories are famed for their friendly atmosphere; so when you select a residence hall in Oxford Sunday, September 19, you will find it easy to get off to a good start with the other girls living in the hall. Everyone is eager to swim the lake and enjoy college life and many long-lasting friendships are begun.

Two of the sophomore women counselors will be living in your corridor. Only recently out of the freshman class themselves, they can readily understand the quotas, quantums, and eternities that may be both amusing, yet just don’t hesitate to ask.

The house chairman is a junior woman selected from the group of last year’s women counselors and she will preside at the various house meetings. She will be glad to help you out too, when you are in need of advice or information.

Especially selected for her job by the University is your housemother who is your freshman advisor. She will be willing to help you at all times as she can make her appearance right away and introduce for you to the folks.
LIFE IS A DORM IT IS FREE BUT THERE ARE OF COURSE REGULATIONS FOR YOU TO FOLLOW. THESE RULES ARE REALLY SIMPLY COMMON SENSE AND WILL WORK NO HARMFULITY ON YOU. YOU WILL BE EXPECTED TO KEEP HOURS AS FOLLOWS: WEEKDAYS, 10:00 A.M. TO 10:00 P.M.; FRIDAYS, 10:00 A.M. TO 11:30 P.M.; SATURDAYS, 12:00 P.M. TO 1:00 A.M.; AND SUNDAYS, 12:00 P.M. TO 10:00 P.M. SPECIAL "FALL DAYS" ARE GIVEN FOR DANCE AND OTHER SCHEDULED EVENTS SUCH AS THE ARTIST SERIES.

THEN FOR AN EASY TO STUDY AND KEEPING DORM RULES DOWN TO A LOW MET, THERE ARE QUIET HOURS. YOUR COUNSELORS WILL TELL YOU ALL ABOUT THEM AT YOUR FIRST CORRIGENT MEETINGS.

AN ESSENTIAL AND MOST ENJOYABLE PART OF DORM LIFE IS THE TRADITIONAL "SPREAD." YOU AND YOUR BUDDIES GATHER IN YOUR ROOM AFTER HOURS AND GET OUT THE FOOD—BE SURE TO BE SUPPLIED WITH CHEESE, CRACKERS, COKE—ANYTHING TO EAT WHICH CAN BE BOUGHT AT TOWN AND STORED REASONABLY EASILY IN YOUR CLOSET. ONE MORE THING, GIRLS, TO DRESS UP YOUR ROOM AND ADD A TOUCH OF HOME—DON'T FORGET YOUR MATTRESS CLUTCH. YOU CAN HANG IT FROM THE MOULDING AND USE IT AS A BUFFET BOARD FOR THE PICTURES, DANCE FAVORS AND KEEPSAKE YOU WILL ACCUMULATE DURING THE YEAR.

AND THEN OF COURSE, THE TRUSTY ALARM CLOCK. LIFE ISN'T ALL PLEXUS AND EIGHT O'CLOCK ROLL AROUND AWFULLY EARLY IN THE MORNING!

DORM LIFE FOR MEN

LIFE IS A MAN'S DORM WILL GIVE YOU A CHANCE TO MEET AN ENTIRELY NEW CIRCLE OF ACQUAINTANCES, PERHAPS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT THINGS DORM LIFE CAN PROVIDE. THE ATTENTION GIVEN TO THE DORM LIFE WILL HELP YOU IN YOUR STAY AT THE UNIVESTITY. THE INSIGHTS OF ROLES WHICH START SPONTANEOUSLY AND COME YOU'RE SUBJECT FROM THE LAST FOOTBALL GAME TO THE PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE WILL GIVE AN INSIGHT INTO OTHER'S CHARACTERS AND THEIR POTENTIAL TO BECOME YOUR FRIENDS.

DORM LIFE OF THE MAN IS NOT REGULATED TO THE EXTENT OF THE WOMAN. MANY ARE ALLOWED TO COME AND GO AS THEY PLEASE, THOUGH THEY ARE ENCOURAGED TO REFRESH BY 11 P.M. IN THE INTERESTS OF HEALTH AND FAIRNESS TO THE ROOMMATES.

MOST OF THE REGULATIONS SET UP ARE TO ENSURE THE COMFORT AND CONVENIENCE OF THE OTHER MAN LIVING WITH YOU. QUIET HOURS ARE ABSENTED FROM 9 P.M. UNTIL 12 O'CLOCK. THIS QUIET IN THE EVENING IS conducive to study and sleep, and the morning quiet hours allow the late sleeper to rest as well as the early student to study.

By the same token, musical instruments are limited to certain hours set up within the dorm, and the piano is usually used only before and after meals. The possession of liquer, drinking, gambling, profanity, vulgarity and unreasonable noise are strictly for-bidden.

An effort is made to instill satisfactory study habits during the freshman year. The counselors are put in the dorm not to act as policemen, but as advisors and friends. The counselor in your corridor will be glad to all of your work for you—he isn’t a private Maid service is furnished in most of the dorms daily, and men are expected to be up in the morning before the maid comes to clean the room. The men are responsible for the care of the rooms. Maids are not expected to perform any cleaning that can be done by the men. Periodic inspections are held so that violations are observed.

Furniture, pictures, and other decorations should be removed from the molding, but not painted on the wall. You may bring your appliances, but its use is restricted so that it will not disturb anyone in another room. Furnishings provided include a bed, mattress, pillow, study table and lamp, chair and dresser.

FOR VETERANS ONLY

Welcome to Miami. Everybody seems to be giving advice to veterans or new boys to get along in college, and we are not going to be an exception. Here are some hints on college that may help you, from a veteran who had to learn about them the hard way.

A veteran who plans to attend college needs a Certificate of Eligibility from the Veterans Administration (VA), to show that he is entitled to education under the GI Bill.
If you do not have a Certificate, write to your nearest VA office for one.

Payline is the place where the University figures up how much you owe the school for housing and food. Take your Certificate of Eligibility with you when you go to payline and give it to the VA representative.
Be sure to write down the Member on your Certificate because you will need to know it many times during your college career.
In payline you will fill out a blank designating the plans you want your checks sent. It is best to have your checks sent home because then you do not have to worry about filling out a change of address blank every time your campus address changes. The post office does not forward a veteran’s check in the

Payline, on the whole, consists of filling in cards with your last name first and your middle name last and other cards with your father's name, your payline number's name, or breakfast cereal preference, and other related information. At the end of the line comes the big job—the cashier's desk. Here is where you learn the family savings.

There are several schools of thought on what is the best way to handle finances in college. Some like to bring along a checkbook and to sign their name, but with the amount left blank. They then can fill in the amount of cash spent at the end of each month. They usually make arrangements for their allowance to be sent there a weekly or monthly allowance. Another method is to open a checking account at a local bank, or at your dormitory, which is the best of both. It is said that the checking account fosters good financial habits, but the other method has its advantages also. One usually finds that allowance sums up to a very small savings.

That brings up another question—how much is needed to spend money a week? The university catalog says that $50.00 is a maximum for the student to maintain good scholarship. This seems to be a bit optimistic, what with everything on an inflated level. Be sure, when you plan your weekly expenditures, to make provision for dry cleaning, laundry, (either package home or bills from one of the local laundries), and toiletry articles. Of major importance is the fact that a well-stocked family larder will not be available; so be sure to take into consideration these midnight snacks.

Since higher education, along with everything else, has shown no indication of dropping in price, the amount of cash necessary for a year's schooling is quite hard to estimate. The expense figures following will give you a basis from which to work. However, they are subject to change before you arrive in Oxford. Further information is on page 80 of the current catalog.

Thobe’s Fountain, located in the heart of the campus, is a good starting point for a tour of the University buildings. The rough stone building is midway on Slaten Walk, the broad sidewalk which bisects the main campus.

Due east of Thobe’s fountain is the oldest University building, Harrison Hall. The building section was constructed in 1868, formerly known as Old Main. It contains the Towers Theatre, the Commer-eat-dining room, offices, and classrooms. Art, languages, soilogy, and psychology classes are among those which hold sessions here.

Veering toward the north after going through Herdton, we pass the Beta Theta Pi Campus. You will soon be familiar with the "Beta Bulbo" because they ring every quarter-hour, a constant reminder that you have only a few minutes until that next class.
The Campus was erected by the fraternity to mark its centenary.

Then we follow a path southeast to Human Hall, women’s gymnasium. Here all women students participate in physical education classes for at least several Crossing High Street and going north on Tallawanda Road, better-known as Fraser-Hy row,” we find Withrow Court. Basketball games, graduation exercises, and dances are among the events held here. It is also the men’s gymnasium.

Turning back toward campus on Tallawan’s, we walk westward on High Street until we reach a small white house on the corner of High and Bishop. This is Bishop House, home of the music studio.

Back at the fountain again, we enter the first building on the west side. Brits Hall houses laboratories and classrooms for the psychology and geology department.

Bostick Hall contains the offices of the Dean and some of the administrative offices, including President Hoke’s, and is adjoined with a seating capacity of 1200 people.
Band and orchestra concerts, assembly programs, and plays are held here. This is also where you will hear your first big freshman convocation.

Going south from Bostick, we find Mc-Guaffey, one of the largest buildings on the campus. It is devoted to the School of Education and School of Fine Arts. McGuaffey primary school is located in the south wing.
The school is complete, even to an auditorium and gymnasium.

Thobe’s fountain ought to be familiar now, so we’ll continue from there. This time we’ll walk down Slaten Walk until it ends at Irvin Hall, Irvin contains classrooms and labor-eries for the college of Arts and Science and the School of Business Administration. Offices of three student publications—the Miami Student, Reflection, and Tomahawk—are located in this building.

On the west side of From is the Alumni Library. The "Licker" has two large reading rooms, approximately 180,000 books, and offices of the Scripps Foundation for Population Research. New stacks are being added. Daily newspapers are available for reading. Directly south of the library across the street is Bonham House. Administrative offices not located at Bonham are in this former private home.

On the east side of From is Hughes Hall. Hughes contains offices, laboratories, and classrooms of the departments of biology, chemistry, microbiological sciences, and mathematics.

The Industrial Arts Education Building is on the corner next to the Hugh Hall, to its north.

The Arts and Sciences Building is on the corner next to the Hugh Hall, to its north.

Another new building added since last year is Upland Hall, named after President Almond K. Upland who died in 1916. It houses the College of Arts and Sciences, according to plans at this time.

Again going south of the Industrial Arts Building, we find a small, but important, structure on Maple Street. One glance at its odd shape tells you that it is McKnight Observatory. It contains a 4.5-inch reflecting telescope, one of the few in the country.

Having completed the tour of permanent academic buildings, we'll take a look at a structure on Maple Street. McKnight Observatory, which is located at the corner of Spring and Maple Streets.

The Women's Affairs Association Field House on Maple Street contains lockers for outdoor sport equipment. WAA parties are held here and physical education classes meet in the field house on rainy days. Probably the buildings of most interest to you are the dormitories. There are ten women's halls. Oxford College Hall, Hephzib Hall, Anna Logan Lodge, and Wild Hall are the main freshmen dorms. Oxford College is a dignified two-story structure on the west margin of town. It is located at the corner of College Avenue and High Street, included in the Oxford College group are Morris House, Walker House, and Blanchard House. Residents of these halls are in the same Oxford College dining hall. Oxford College is named for its beautiful Broad River which is used for dances and other social functions. Hephzib Hall, also located to freshm women, is on campus. It is south of Thibe's Fountain, behind Brice Hall, and houses the TWCA office.

Anna Logan Lodge is the newest woman's dorm and it too is devoted to freshman women only. Built last year, it has been in use only one semester. It is unique because it is the only dormitory on campus whose walls are not all the same color. The Lodge is located behind Wells Hall.

West Hall, sister hall to East, accommodates about 135 freshman women. Its basement contains the laundry for the two halls, while East Hall has the dining room. Although the food for both halls is prepared in the same kitchen, the freshman have their private dining room apart from the upper-classmen living in East. West Hall is located on Spring Street, south of Hughes Hall.

Other women's dormitories are North, South, Wells, Bishop, and East Hall. These are separate dormitories.

East and Wells Halls are both south of campus on Spring Street. The Home Management House, next Wells, is home for Home Economics majors. A large dormitory, its dormitory women is one of the features attractions of Wells Hall.

North and South Halls are located on Oak Street, south of the campus. The saley which houses the chapters of the various sororities which are represented at Miami are in these two beautiful buildings.

Bishop Hall is just west of the Library, on campus. It is conveniently located for those who don't like to hike to class. Bishop and Haysburg are the two oldest women's halls.

There are three men's dormitories on the main campus. All right angles to Harrison Hall is Opden Hall. Besides housing 200 men it contains the TWCA office and an assembly room.

Elliott and Sheddall Halls are twin halls facing on the quadrangle. The original dormitories were erected in 1925 and 1936, respectively, and were then known as Old North and South. The renovated buildings still stand side by side southeast of Opden.

Going north again, we arrive at David Swing Hall on Telfawoods Road. If you like sports, here is the convenient place to be, tennis courts, golf course, baseball diamond, gymnasium, and stadium are all nearby.

McMaster House is opposite Swings and Williams Court. Nicknamed Green Hall because of the heavy rooms and basements are once housed here, it looks tall and wide. It is a barracks originally built for naval training. Putting on walking shoes and going east on High Street, we stop at New Men's Dormitories No. 1 and No. 2. New Men's No. 2 was occupied for the first time this year and will house approximately 200 men. It is The newest dorm on campus and is located on the west edge of the New Men's campus. New Men's Dorm No. 1 is set far back from the street and is surrounded by pine trees which provide a beautiful setting.

Northeast of New Men's Dorm is Fisher Hall. Fisher has quite a history, ranging from its years as a very exclusive boys' residence to its later colorful status as an insane asylum.

Following the long drive that leads from Fisher, we turn off High Street and travel east over a winding drive to the Pines. The Pines and Pinet Lodge are part of the Fisher Hall complex and were originally connected with the asylum. The Pines is one of the most beautifully appointed halls on campus and more than ample makes up for its distance from campus with its atmosphere. The Pines' tennis courts are flooded each winter for ice skating.

Universities living quarters form our city neighborhood are the Lodges, located past South Hall on Oak Street. In these two wooden buildings 650 men can be housed comfortably. In addition, they have their own dining hall and postal facilities conveniently handy.

Across the street from the Lodges is Veterans Village, a housing settlement for married couples and their families. Comprised of prefabricated 2-family units and a few trailers, the community is furnished with its own grocery store run by the villagers on a co-operative basis, and laundromat.

Residence which concerns you only indirectly are Tallowood Apartments at the corner of Tallowood and High, Lewis Place, and Simpson Guest House. Tallowwood was formerly a girls' dorm, but is now a faculty residence hall. Lewis Place and Simpson House face the campus across High Street. Lewis Place is the official residence of the president and Simpson House is the university guest house.

There are nine temporary structures on the campus at the present time and are available for student use. They are all one or two story wooden buildings. A faculty office where is located due north of Irvine Hall is a small office. A large office behind Fisher Hall is a physical therapy building behind Willoughby Hall, and A Office Arts till practice building beside McFarland practice house. A Temporary Student Union Building is conveniently placed for the student's next to Hamlin St, and is the most popular between classes. It contains no food, but does offer coffee and other food at reasonable prices.

Four other temporary buildings are known simply as A, B, C, and D. A and B are used for architecture, building C contains four rooms for men and photography. Building D is not in use.
There are buildings that are nothing but names to you now, but they will soon be as familiar as the stores on the main street of your home town. Although the view is somewhat marred by the presence of temporary structures which have been erected to furnish the gymnasium classroom and living space, we're proud of our campus. We believe that when you see it for yourself, you'll agree that it is the most beautiful in the country.
MIAMI'S SCHOOLS

Miami University offers degrees in four schools—the College of Arts and Science, the School of Education, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Fine Arts. In addition, the University maintains a graduate school.

The College of Arts and Science is designed to provide a well-balanced general education. A great deal of opportunity in the selection of courses is offered by this college. Students enrolled in Arts and Science choose one subject which especially interests them and center their education around this subject. Students in the College of Arts and Science lead to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science at the conclusion of a four-year course. Preparatory training in law, medicine, theology, engineering and other graduate studies is provided in this college. Under no Art or Science courses are permitted to complete three years of work and go to graduate school in the above fields.

The School of Education, which is subdivided into Elementary Education, Practice Arts and Secondary Education, offers courses in preparation of teachers and supervisors of public schools. Two-year, three-year and four-year curricula are offered in the division of Elementary Education. The division of Practical Arts offers courses in Art Education, Business Administration, Commercial Arts, Industrial Arts, Music Education and Physical Education. The division of Secondary Education is designed to prepare teachers for the grade levels above.

Six minors or groups of work are included in the organization of the School of Business Administration. Majors in Accounting, Finance and Banking, General Business, Industrial Management, and Marketing and Merchandising lead to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business. A major in Secretarial Studies results in the award of Bachelor of Science in Secretarial Studies.

All of these majors require four years of college work.

The School of Fine Arts awards degrees of Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts in Architecture, and Bachelor of Architecture. Five years of study are necessary for the latter degree. Bachelor of Music is awarded upon completion of a four-year curriculum in music and liberal studies. Bachelor of Fine Arts and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Architecture can be awarded in four years of studies.

In addition to regular courses of study, there is offered a Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps program. Under this program
It is possible for a student to complete his college education with a Bachelor of Science degree end of the same time a reserve commission in the Navy or Marine Corps. To do this the student enters the NROTC as a "regular" or "Interservice" student. He takes the usual college courses plus a course in Naval Science every semester. "Regulars" take an eight-weeks cruise each summer and "contracts" take one three-week's summer cruise. They both take certain required courses in mathematics and physics. They are furnished with complete uniforms for use while engaging in navy activities. Contract students agree to accept reserve commissions in the United States Marine Corps or United States Navy upon graduation. Regulars are commissioned in the Navy or Marine Corps and are required to serve two years after graduation.

GRADING SYSTEM

Just as there comes a time in every man's life when he stops to appreciate himself, and to evaluate his past actions, so it is in college during the grading period at the middle and at the end of each semester when the student goes to his advisor and gets an evaluation of the work he has done for the previous nine weeks. To some it means more studying, and to others less, but to all it is a summary of the total value of the work we have done.

Grades are necessary to tell a student how well he is doing in his classes and, therefore, how well qualified he is to become familiar with the material, system here at M.I.T. Really when you come right down to it, it is really only a matter of keeping your ABC's. A—indicates excellent work and carries a credit of four points for every hour in the course completed. B—indicates good work, and carries a credit of three points for every hour in the course completed. C—indicates fair work, and carries a credit of two points for every hour in the course completed. D—indicates poor work, and carries a credit of one point for every hour in the course completed.
E—indicates a condition in the course and carries no credit points.
F—indicates a failure in the course, and carries no credit points.

To figure out your point average from here on it is really quite simple. Take the number of credit points awarded for your grade in each subject (A=4 points, B=3 points, C=2 points, D=1 point); and multiply by the number of hours in the course. Then add all the various products and divide by the number of hours you are carrying.

CUT RULES

A good policy is set in force when you first come to Miami. Will be no cutting classes. According to the university book, there are only these legitimate excuses. They are as follows:
1) Representing athletic events at another university.
2) A-illness illness or death in the immediate family.
3) An illness which confines you to the university hospital.
You will find that you will pay into dif-cults when you make a practice, especially when that rule (duties matter comes around) of cutting classes to enjoy the finer things in life.

The latest rule adopted by the University takes the following cutting rules as follows:
1) A student is expected to attend all classes for which he is registered, and is liable to discipline unless he has acceptable excuses.
2) If a professor specifically reports a student to the advisor for having too many cut days, he has a spontaneous effect on the future of the class, the advisor shall drop the student from the class with a grade of F.
3) No student with less than a three point average for the previous semester's work shall cut the last meeting of class before a holiday, nor the first meeting of class after the holiday period. Anyone guilty of disobeying this rule without being enforced through the proper channels will receive a grade of F in the course. Instructors must report these offenses to the registrar's office.

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

If you think that you might try a "hang", don't. If you think that you might try a cut-passe, don't. If you think that you might try a "last resting your eyes", don't.

Miami University has not always been known for these anti-climactic examination, and it now acts pretty definite to the rule and regulations that, of the following instruction during examinations shall be considered prima-dae evidence of cheating:
1. Possession of test books, outlines, of notes of any type, except when authorized by the instructor.
2. Any type of communication between students.
3. "Glancing at another person's paper without apparent intent to copy."

It may be surprising how head-on rules those seemingly mean-minded professors are.
Although "Honor is the best policy" may sapid talk, you'll agree with this platitude when you know the penalties for cheating: for The University is not content with a simple reprimand.
1. "A "O" shall be given on any exam-nce or paper in which an student gains reared illegal help.
2. An "O" grade shall be given in a course in which the student gains or received and is the final examination.
3. The Disciplinary board may take action for the case of repeated offenses.

CAR RULES
You can't bring it with you. The model just is not needed in a small town like Oxford where fitness means work will take you about. Moreover, in a car you feel it necessary, it bring in an automobile, to college should mean another means just that. All automobiles that are parked around the campus without parking authorities are removed by the Oxford police. If, however, you find it absolutely necessary to have a car, you can tell your troubles to Mr. H. H. Smitherson in his office at Benton hall; and if your reasons are really will issue you a car-permit sticker. Your windshield. Amendes -certainly may see your special permission to park on campus.

52
However, these are more or less rewards for two or three years of hard work and living.

In Oxford, students can also find jobs in the local "eateries," grocery stores, etc., as waiters and waitresses, in the personnel of the general handy man. This includes employment in the new student hang-out, the Radcliffe Reservation, which is owned by the University. In the other places of employment, the pay varies with the whims of the employer.

Often students do not seek employment until after their first nine weeks of school or until the end of the first semester. This is a good practice to follow. If you do not want to look around for the best possible job, you might want to become familiar with campus life before assuming the added responsibilities of a wage earner.

UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL

On East Spring Street you'll find the University hospital, a three-story red brick building. Under the direction of Dr. Max L. Durlee, director of student health service, the hospital is equipped with 66 beds and offers complete clinical service to all students. A fee of $3 per parameter is the only charge for the service of the qualified staff. All types of ailments with the exception of operations are treated at the hospital. If the little white pill doesn't do the trick, you can take advantage of a three-day stay in the hospital. For each student is entitled to three days of rest and relaxation each year as a result of the health fee. In case the third day is not sufficient time to regain your pep and energy, you may of course extend your stay for a modest daily charge. So, set your minds at ease, gang. If the University food gives you a bad time or you find yourself with a case of the sniffles when the April monsoon arrives in Octobre, "Doc" Durlee and his staff will give you the proper treatment.

SPECIALIZED SERVICES

A counseling service is offered by the University to all students. Dr. Richard C. Crosby is in charge of the service which is located in Room L in the basement of Harrison Hall. If you're in doubt as to what you'd like to do in the way of a vocation, Dr. Crosby is the man to see. His attitude tests have aided many students in determining the type of work for which they're best suited.

Dr. Robert J. Miser, a comparative expense to the University campus, is the Uninummer, serves as a liaison between students and admination and works for a better unnderstanding of problems facing the students.

His office is located on the first floor of Benton Hall.

Social Director for the University is Mrs.

Grace C. Dune, Mrs. Dome schedules all social activities which take place on campus.

in addition to handling the bookings of the musical talent which appears on campus.

Also located on the first floor of Benton is the office of H. H. Stanhope, director of student housing. Mr. Stanhope also handles applications for homes in Vet Village and is the man to see about hall-auto permit.

Mr. Henry M. Garlach who maintains his office on the first floor of Benton is in charge of admissions to the University and also takes care of loans and scholarships.

The Alumni office can be found in the south wing of Ogden Hall across from the YM office. Mr. John C. Dallbas is Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association and keeps in contact with all graduates of the University. The MIAMI ALUMNIUS is published six times a year and distributed to graduates throughout the world.

HONORARY ORGANIZATIONS
SCOLASTIC HONORARIES

PHI BETA KAPPA

In colleges everywhere, Phi Beta Kappa stands for the highest in scholastic achievement. The Miami chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, based in Ohio, is exceedingly proud to count among its members not only those scholastically capable but talented people as well. The organization, comprised of libraries, men, and women, along with artists, musicians, and scholars, has a variety of purposes and achievements. Foremost, the group awards scholarship caps, in keeping with its sponsorship of learning; to the seniority and fraternity, whose actions and pledges have made the highest grade average throughout the preceding semester. Once each year a banquet is held to welcome new members, and a distinguished speaker is invited to address the group.

Another of Phi Beta Kappa's functions is its Junior Scholarship award, which is given every year to the outstanding member of the junior class who excels in scholarship, leadership, personality, and accomplishments. This organization, like any honorary, has grade requirements, which means that juniors must have a 3.75 average to be eligible, and seniors a 3.5 average; besides the consideration of their participation in extra-curricular activities.

PHI ETA SIGMA

Phi Beta Sigma is the freshman men's scholastic honorary, comparable to Cowen for women. After the first nine months of grades are published, all men with an average of three points (A) or better are invited to a smoker usually held in Ogburn hall. The smoker acquaints the freshman with the purposes of the honorary and provides a stimulus for hard work with the books the remainder of the semester. At the end of the semester all men with a 3.5 average or better are initiated and allowed to wear the golden scroll.

As members they are able to aid others through the chapter's tutoring services.

ben are chosen primarily for scholarship, service, and leadership, but abilities, personality, and achievements are also carefully considered. A "get-acquainted" tea is held by the old members right after fall semester grades are published for those women who are scholastically eligible.

Following the tapping of new members at the annual May Day ceremonies in the spring, a formal initiation is held, and then the women are given their small gold crowns and scepter, a pin of honor on Miami’s campus.

MORTAR BOARD

Every May Day, a certain distinguished group of junior women are tapped to be members of Mortar Board. To be a member of this organization is an honor and a privilege that is bestowed on those women who show leadership, loyalty, and service to the University, and who keep a high scholastic average.

Women chosen for this honor are recognized by the small black and gold pin, a miniature Mortar Board, which they are permitted to wear during their senior year.

In 1922, the Florida chapter of Mortar Board was established at Miami, and since then the organization has been active in supporting various groups of various lectures, in helping GCK with Homecoming plans, and in assisting with commencement exercises. Of course, all the women honored by Mortar Board do not suddenly become eligible for membership out of a clear blue sky—they work hard for grades and accumulate activities from their very first year at Miami.

The Miami Student, oldest college newspaper in the United States, is published semi-weekly. Approximately 20 superclassemen together with an unlimited number of aspiring freshmen compose the editorial staff while the business staff numbers around 35 students. Surrounded by carbon paper, newspapers from a wide variety of places and handwritten ink and other useful sniffs found in a newspaper office, the editorial staff is responsible for stories, editorials, and the general attitude of the paper. Freshmen are supervised by several desk-editors who are chosen from the most interested freshmen of the previous year and an issue editor. The YMCA is both a social and religious body, interested in instilling in the minds of students a respect for their church, their church, and their community. The Y's parrot service, and many projects are undertaken every year. The Student Y is definitely an important part of the Miami Y. There is Holding meetings every two weeks, the Freshmen Y centers its programs around educational discussion groups, debates, and speakers. Like the Fresh YM, it has its own cabinet which functions and coordinates with the upperclass cabinet.

Major features of the Freshmen Y are the initiation of its new members into the organization, and acquainting the new-student with the trials and tribulations of university life. The Y charges no fee for membership since it is supported by the Miami Chest drive. The Y will need your membership and co-operating this year so hurry over to Hapgood Hall and sign up. By the way, you can stop in for a candy bar or pick up an offer on paper and pencil paper at the Y store in Hapgood Hall.

RELIGIOUS GROUPS

One of the most important phases in the life of a student is his attitude toward religion and his religious ideals. It is almost impossible for any student to realize this and that they are failing short of the fulfillment of this necessary factor in their lives. Places of worship for those of almost every religious denomination are provided in Oxford and are within easy walking distance of everyone. During last school service are held in the meetings of various halls.

Associated with their respective churches and co-ordinated in a social program under the leadership of Dr. Arthur C. Wickersham, Director of Religious Activities, and the Miami Student Religious council are the various social-religious organizations. These clubs have been outstanding in work in helping the students of similar interests in years of fun and worthwhile activity such as entertaining parties, dances, and speakers.

from national advertising. Just down the hall from the Student Office is found that of the Recense. Here Bob Smith holds forth as editor and Jeanette Magen, business manager, friendship shines, fraternally tins to remember just how many of the famous Recense typewriters were borrowed that day.

The young lady wearing the white hat and blue dress during the first month of classes is likely to be Peg Kramer, president of Panhel, an official Council upon whose shoulders rest much of the responsibility for smooth security making and the friendly inter-sorority relationships for which our campus is noted. Much the same (or so it is that Sheldon Veil, Inter-Fraternity Council presy., Morton Board, veteran women's secreat and scholaric, honorary, has elected Ellen Dinnin- son as its president for this year. This group also numbers among its members Barbara McRae, president of YWCA on campus. The corresponding men's position are held by Ed Clark, president of Omicron Delta Kappa, and the presidency of the TMCA, which is held by Leo MacNeil.

Jane Duell, as president of Women's League, keeps her finger on all campus activities in which women play an important part. Chairman of Student-Faculty council, a position held by Sheldon Veil, is one which entails, direction of student government on campus.
POLITICS

Politics on the Miami campus change in picture from one election to the next. Until this year, one coalition of fraternities and sororities controlled most of the offices on campus. This year a second group organized as the New Miami Party and campaigned openly against the coalition which operated secretly.

Elections are held for Student-Faculty Council and class officers in the spring. As the same time elections are held for treasurers for the Redskin Reservation and Memorial Union. These two are members of the Athletic Board of Control, and vice-president of the Varsity Social Club. Those are all upperclass positions which you will learn more about when you get on campus.

Other elections which the Elections Board of the S.F.C. directs throughout the year are for dance kings and queens, homecoming royalty, any of special elections, such as referendum, of an important issue to the student body for approval.

When you get on campus, you should remember that you are a part of the student body; and as such should express your vote in all campus elections. Too often in the past, a small minority of students has participated, a matter which will be corrected of all incoming students will remember that their vote is so important as the rest. Use your vote!

FRESHMAN COUNCIL

If you aspire to be a big wheel—not quick —don't fail to run for Freshman Council. Even if you don't win, the fact that your name has been plastered all over campus for a week will bring you prestige and county-wide fame.

In October the grand mather begins. One of the most spirited election campaigns of the year occurs annually in the fall when freshman elections are held. You, yes, you—are eligible to run for freshman council. The best procedure that ensures a successful candidacy is putting your name before the electorate (freshmen only to this election) so frequently and so clearly that voters cannot exist from placing an "X" by your name when polls-hasting begins.
Some of the conventional advertising schemes used are banners, posters, stickers, ribbons, prize advertising in the Student, plugs at public affairs such as football games, and Babble. It or not—admittedly. Last year, the campus was turned into a menagerie for a few days during freshmen elections when a huge bunny and a live horse paraded around miscellaneous.

But if and when you are elected to Freshman Council, then your duties begin and you get your first taste of college leadership, membership in, or recommendation, of the Council, comprising the Freshman vote in the student government of the University. The president of Freshman Council is chosen by virtue of compiling the exact number of votes of all candidates. He and the candidate of the opposite sex claiming the exact number of votes are voting members of Student-Faculty Council, the student-faculty liaison.

Merely because you are not a member of Freshman Council does not prevent you from participating in student government. You may want to express yourself or submit suggestions to the Council or volunteer to serve on committees for projects sponsored by the Council.

In addition to being the freshman governing body, the Council also plans the annual Freshman Strat, arranges for other dances and recreational activities and directs the presentation of the annual freshman variety show, revived as a tradition last year.

Requirements for candidacy for the Council are merely a C average of five weeks and a petition to the fact that you desire to be a candidate, bearing the signatures of 10 other freshmen.

STUDENT-FACULTY COUNCIL

You won't fully realize the presence of the Student-Faculty Council until next spring when the campus is literally draped with posters proclaiming the merits of each candidate for a position on S-FC.

In the annual spring elections, the number of student S-FC membership is controlled by the total amount of students partaking in S-FC members elected per each 100 students voting.

Incidentally, if you would like to be a candidate for S-FC come spring elections, there's only a list of informal steps to stop you. All you need is a petition with 10 signatures? a petition with 10 signatures. Having a little cash and energy in campaign expenses and publicity, and finally, submit a list of campaign appears to the elections committee of S-FC.
In addition to students, S-FG members elected to the spring, other ex-officio student members of S-FG are members of the two disciplinary boards, the president of Freshman Council, members of the men counselors, and the president of Women's League. All faculty members are also appointed by the University Senate. S-FG is the student governing body and your support of it, either in membership status or otherwise, is conducive to a more effective and democratic government. It is your duty to keep tabs on current developments at the University. Don't let yourself be identified with the apathetic student who mutters, "I don't want to be notified? What?" when someone is discussing a campus-wide issue that has been in the air for weeks.

But enough of preaching and back to S-FG. It's the body that sponsors all student activities, arranges formal and social events, and decides the proceeds of the annual student activity fee among deserving organizations. Women's League

Women's League, a national women's governing association, is the women's governing body at Miami. Every woman is automatically a member upon being matriculated. The executive body of Women's League, called the Legislative Council, is comprised of the house chairman of all women's committees, the president of the Panhel Council, and the presidents of women's organizations and departmental honorary groups.

Freshmen first meet these members during Freshman week when informal get-togethers and teas are sponsored for the purpose of introducing each freshman to others from her class. The senior members of the Legislative Council meet each spring to nominate women to serve as house chairman the coming year. Following this, campus-wide elections are held, and the new house chairman chosen.

Concerning the executive offices of Women's League, the president is an ex-officio writing position on the Student Faculty Council. Women's League is organized in line with the Panhel organization. Eligible for Women's League is any female student, regardless of any sorority affiliation. Issues concerning the campus, social, and campus life are heard by the Legislative Council. This publication is revised each year. Every woman on campus should thoroughly acquaint herself with its contents. A campus-wide dance is sponsored annually by the Women's League. Usually a "girls drag" affair, it is always successful and creates much anxiety for weeks in advance.
DISCIPLINARY BOARDS

Whoever started the fable about the "sleeping of the middle west" must have been a misinformed contemporary—cause the West is awake.

But in the event that a black sheep in a student's fold should violate a moral code, the Disciplinary boards are ready to study his case and mete justice accordingly. Whether the offense involves drinking, gambling, commit-ting unauthorized theatricals or any other manifestation of effrontery—the boards are invested with the authority of dealing justly with sedately, but sternly, with the culprit.

Two Disciplinary boards, one for women, students and one for men students, are given disciplinary power by the University Senate and nine members serve on each board. Membership is composed of two seniors, two juniors and five faculty representatives. The student members are ap-pointed by the Student Faculty council and the two junior appointees remain in office for one year terms and are re-elected annually.

The two boards function separately; but in the event that a woman student and a man student are involved in the same case, a joint meeting may be called.
NIGHT LIFE

Social life at Miami includes ten big dances every year. These dances, usually semi-formal, are held in Withrow Court. The biggest is October with the Homecoming Dance which is held in the evening after the Homecoming football game. A king and queen, elected by the entire student body and present at the games, reign at the dance.

Four other dances held during the fall semester are the Freshman Slam, the Sophomore Hop, the Panhellenic dance, and the Women's League dance.

The purpose of the Freshman Slam is to welcome freshmen to social life at Miami. At Miami, freshmen elect the first king and queen of the Freshman dance and Freshman advisors direct the event. Freshmen are given a first chance to buy tickets, the dance is open to everyone on campus.

King Adonis, elected by senior women, reigns at the Panhellenic dance which will be held November 13. The dance is sponsored by the Panhellenic council and is open to senior members and their dates.

Sophomores are in the forefront at the Sophomore Hop. The purpose of the dance is to entertain the football squad. A king is chosen from among the senior members of the team. The dance is usually held in December.

Miami men are in War glory at the Women's League hop which is held either in December or January each year. Women not only win prizes in the dance but pay for the tickets and select them to the dance.

The Junior Prom, the biggest dance of the year, opens the social life of the second semester. It is held the night before George Washington's birthday, from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. A queen is usually elected from among junior girls.

Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, and Sigma Chi fraternity sponsor the Miami Triad each year in March. The dance is open to members of these three fraternities, which include the three oldest major chapters on campus, and their dates. The Triad is held on all college campuses where these three fraternities exist.

The last class dance of the year is the Senior Ball which is held either in April or May. Although the dance is open to the en-
 Like good music? If you do, then you'll want to see the theories of your fellow students who find their way to the "Cameron Hall" of Miami—Withrow Court, of course. Witness an Artist Series event.

For the price of one small ticket from your activity book, you can enjoy hearing fine pieces such as "Now, Nelly, Nelly", "Peter, Peter", Helen Trubel, and Gladys Snowball, who have been here in the past. A committee composed of faculty and students, headed by Dr. H. C. M. Montague, plans the Artist Series programs with an eye to providing you with wholesome and diversified entertainment during your entire college days.

The best part of all in the $1.00 included in your payline activity fee is the only requirement for your hearing and seeing those famous artists from all over the world. The music director also promotes well-known lecturers who speak to Miami audiences in Benson Hall throughout the
ARDOWN THE TOWN

No, Mr. and Mrs. Freshman, you won’t find any Waldorf Astoria to go to on Saturday night but a throng of the gals who have been here before will want to go. You may have a bangup time within the one mile square limit of Oxford.

Of course, the prime consideration is not where you go, but who you are with. Supper is Saturday night. You will eat with that dress gal or guy. If you are like about 40 percent of the student body, you are going to want to go to the show. You had brought to the Milton-Western early if you have fast that are attractive to long periods of standing. For the weekends the usual picture-panorama New Oxford theater is opened to handle part of the overflow.

Lot of Detroit fans will start off on an evening with a good meal at the Grand Central Hotel, Westlake Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. A special train leaves at 7:30 p.m. and arrives at 9:15. The train is arranged with the facilities of the Grand Central Hotel, Westlake Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, and is operated by special train crews.
Redskin Reservation

Novel a quick cup of coffee between those early morning classes? Or a more leisurely "relax" of an afternoon or evening? Then you'll probably want to join the "gang" at Miami's new temporary student union building, the Redskins Reservation, kindly known as the "Fish" or the "Barn," located beside Heaton hall, the women's physical education building.

What more is atmosphere could you ask? Music is provided through loudspeaker at a juke box, or from the stage where often come the tantalizing rhythms of one of the local "Glenn Miller," causing, too, if you can manage to avoid stumbling over the dancefloor.

The food is tops, prices low, and any profits are turned over to the Municipal Student Union fund. So you can see that by supporting "The Barn," students are helping to build a permanent student union building for Miami.

FRATERNAL LIFE
SORORITIES

Sororities play an important part in campus life at Miami, and it is well for each freshman entering school to remember that they are not all subservient to a well-rounded college life as they may appear during their hectic weeks of acclimatization and relativity.

Sororities are social organizations found on most college campuses to promote scholarship, encourage participation in campus activities, and offer, in all, to create friendship. At Miami it is neither at a sacrifice of social license nor a requisite for a happy existence to belong to a sorority. A point to consider when deciding whether you will affiliate or not is the number of affiliated women at Miami than those who have "gone Greek."

Each sorority requires a successfully designed and furnished suite in either South Hall or South building, opposite women's residence halls. The suite consists of a large living room or lounge and a kitchenette in which members may prepare small suppers or keep the essentials for "take parties."

This system has proved its merit by creating a friendlier spirit between the various sororities, and by letting each will become better acquainted with Independents and girls belonging to other sororities as well as her own sisters in the bond.

The Panhellenic council acts as a guiding representative body for the organization. Such is represented by the president and one other delegate. In September, the president of the Panhellenic council will often meeting at a meeting in Benson hall, and explain the sorority system in more detail to you, especially the rules and regulations governing the rush period.

All system interested in making you attend the open houses given by the sororities in their suites. The sororities then send invitations through Panhellenic to women and men they are interested. All three parties, women and men intimately acquainted with you and vice versa. The rush period lasts three weeks and is divided into three sections of one week each. The preference card system used by Miami sororities will be explained in the meeting in Benson hall.

Although the main emphasis placed on existing occurs early in the fall, many women prefer to wait until semester, or the following year to be rushed, for fear that they are better able to judge than which sorority they like best or whether they wish to affiliate at all.

Sometimes women are disappointed when bids come out, because they do not realize that only about one-third of the freshman women are pledged. This is the time to remember that many women are overlooked, and that you may be planted later or decide against affiliation entirely.

CAMPUSS CLUB

To the unaffiliated student on campus, Campus Club offers social activities, political representation, and fellowship equal to that provided in Greek letter societies. This organization is comprised of students who do not join fraternities and sororities, and since usually only about forty per cent of the students "go Greek," Campus Club is one of the large organizations on campus.
Campus Club has representatives in all campus organizations, and forms a strong buffering coalition for its members in the general elections for class officers, Student Faculty council members and kings and queens of the various formal dances.
Business meetings are held at stated intervals, but the primary purpose is to promote the social side of campus life. There are, informal get-togethers, picnics, parties, and formal dances. Mem-

FRATERNITIES

Fraternity life is back in full swing as the spring term approaches. The increasing number of students enrolling in campus organizations has been matched by the growth of the Greek system. This increase in the number of fraternities, Delta Theta Phi, Sigma Chi, and Phi Delta Delta which comprise the famed "Miami Trio" and Phi Kappa Tau all have their Alpha chapters at Miami! The University has found that among fraternal groups added to campus life by their emphasis on scholarship, activities and social functions.

With the fraternities again occupying their houses after their temporary abandonment during the war, campus social life is reaching heights never before attained with weekend
Organized rushing begins in February after the first semester grades are released. Interested freshmen sign sheets posted in all dorms, and the fraternities then contact them for rush dates. The rushes and fraternity members become better acquainted after these rush dates, and the fraternity may then offer him a "bid" or invitation to pledge.

A factor, which proved its worth last year, will be used again this year in rushing. Open houses will be held for men interested in pledging by all fraternities in their houses on the Sunday evening preceding date week in which rush dates are made. No invitation will be extended for these houses from 7 to 10 p.m., the men will open houses. From 7 to 10 p.m., the men will be free to come and go as they please, looking over the various fraternities of their choice. The fraternities are governed by the Interfraternity Council, and every fraternity is represented by a delegate from each fraternity. This body regulates rushing and other interfraternal activities.

Most of the fraternity houses are located either on "Fraternity Row" or in "Fraternity Square." The houses of Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Chi comprise the "row" on High Street, while the Delta Upsilon, Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Kappa Tau live in the "square" on Taylorland Avenue and Vine Street. The Delta Chi house is on Main Street, and the Zeta Beta Tau house is on Spring Street. As you, one of the other fraternities have houses, since their advent on campus is rather recent.

In cases of rivalry, the fraternities take turns pledging, those who are not pledged need not be disappointed. In these cases of overpopulation, many men are overlooked through accident. Membership is not necessary for success in college and AMI offers a full social program and political representation to all undergraduates.

ATHLETICS
COACHING STAFF

During the present post-war sports boom, Miami's athletic teams have developed into a major factor in the collegiate sports scene in this section of the country. (Enjoying a good year), Miami's coaching staff has turned out powerful teams in every phase of sports.

Heading the athletic program at Miami are George L. Rider and Melba Ditman. Mr. Rider has charge of the physical education department of the institution and is head coach of Miami's nationally famous track teams. Since his first year at Miami in 1926, Mr. Rider has coached every major sport. His Baldwin-hered sports teams have won many championships and produced national stars. Mr. Ditman is director of intercollegiate athletics and such, he has the responsibility of arranging all schedules, transportation, and minute details connected with every athletic contest. Mr. Ditman has served as assistant director of physical education since 1940.

Appointed head football coach last March after Sid Gillman's move to West Point, George Blackmer has quite a reputation to uphold. Last season the Tribe grid machine was indebted in their nine game schedule and went on to defeat Texas Tech 13-12 in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Texas, on New Year's day. Blackburn came to Miami in 1945 as a backfield coach.

Joe Medro, ex-Oklahoma State gridiron star, assists Blackmer and serves as line coach.

Now in his sixth year at Miami, W. J. "Blue" Foster is head coach of two major sports, basketball and baseball. Foster graduated from Miami in 1930 and via Newport, Ky., high school. He has pro cific coaching Miami hardwood and diamond teams since his arrival in 1940.

Directing the rebuilding of Miami's tennis fortunes after the wartime lull is ex-hero
Al Moore. Starting from scratch, Moore has set up tennis classes and is well on the way to returning Miami's tennis fortunes to their pre-war championship standing.

Coaching the freshmen teams in all the major sports are two former Miami athletes, Jim Gordon, and Ben Ashley, Gordon en couraged on his clerking and placed in the 1932 Olympic Games and came to Miami in 1940 from a high school coaching position at Cleveland West Tech. Ashley graduated from Miami in 1940 and after producing state championship cage teams at Deaton Northridge high school, returned to his alma major last year.

Surpassing intercollegiate athletics is Thomas P. Vykoukal. This life covers all aspects of the popular and extensive intercollegiate pro gram at Miami and is very capably handled by Vykoukal.
FOOTBALL

Sun Bowl victory is the proud claim of Miami's football Redskins. The goldmen of Coach Sid Gillman led an unbeaten, once-laid season by defeating Texas Tech 13-12 in the 13th annual Sun Bowl game at El Paso, Texas.

Grid mentor Gillman was ably assisted by backfield coach George Blackham, line coach Joe Menas and student coach Dick Smull.

Manny State, Kent State and Bowling Green were easily thrown before the Redskins ran into their conquerors west against Xavier. The team had to come from behind in the last few minutes to tie a usually imperturbable eleven 1-4.

By percentages, the Ohio U. game was the team's best showing, but no team could compete with the Crimson and gray, whose quick snapovers and counter-attacks were so many 36-7.

At University of Dayton, Widefield and Butler were all worthy opponents, but fell before the victors-mark of the Redskins.

The season's biggest event was the game with Texas Tech in El Paso on New Year's day. This battle climaxed in days of celebrating, in which the Miami script was well-timed and unperturbed.

People of southeast Texas acclaimed the Tribe for its football ability. This victory was a big step to meed to Chief Gillman's belt. Capital for the 1947 season was All-Ohio right end, Bill Hoover. This year's line-back was Art Partington. All-State right halfback, but he has signed to play with the Cleveland Browns.

Members of the squad voted Mai Ollis and John Weaver most valuable players. Gillman's taut coaching system showed that Partington and Bill McCormick were the most efficient offensive back and lineman respectively, while Tom Cole and Ernie Plank were most efficient on defense. Miami re-calved the largest number of 50 yard place kicks on the All-Ohio team since 1929.

This season's prospects are bright as Black-
BASEBALL

As the middle of May rolled around, the baseball squad under the direction of Miami coach W. J. "Bill" Butler was gunning one of the best records in many years. Prospects for the 1939 season are very bright as most of the past year's squad was composed of sophomores and juniors who will return this year as seasoned veterans. On the pitching staff, Butler will have nineteen-year-old Noel Howell back on the mound, Bob Black, Point Lawrence, and Lee Ynez, all capable starters, will also be out to add more laurels to their pitching records.

In addition to a capable infield staff the entire infield of Jack Estephy, Austin Palmer, Harry Schiepen and Joe Callittdos will be on hand to lend experience to the club. Such catchers, Beene Smith and Tom Ryan, will be available for work back of the dish.

The outfield consisting of Paul Sheline, Geoffrey Connell, and Bob Fitzma will all be back to pat the outer gardens for the Maroons.

Miami will be competing for the Mid- American crown and indications are that with the wealth of returning talent, they should be strong contenders.

SWIMMING POOL

Although the University does not have a swimming pool, courses for women in physical education are held in the Washburn College pool. Also, the swimming and lifeguard course is offered to any University women who may be interested.

In summer the Oxford Memorial pool, located just outside of town, satisfies the needs of many hot batters. It is always taken over by dozens of intramuralists in the afternoon and evenings.

During the morning, academic classes in life saving are given at the pool.
BASKETBALL

Playing the heaviest schedule in the history of Indiana, Coach W. J. "Bill" Foster's caregivers turned in a record of 18 wins against 10 defeats and kept a 20-game schedule lined up for the coming season.

Most of the defeats were of the last minute variety. The Redbirds lost to Indiana $74-63 in overtime, after leading throughout the entire game. They gave Kentucky one of their best games of the year before winning $7-55.

Perhaps the most satisfying victory of the season was the upset scored over their arch rivals, the University of Cincinnati Bearcats, at Wycliff Court by the score of 91-85.

Bob Brown, star center, broke his 1944-45 scoring record of 437 points in scoring 446 points during the past season. He ranked ninth in the nation's scoring last season.

Another outstanding performer was Paul Schnackenberg who was placed on Kentucky's all-opponent team. He is considered to be one of the shiniest ball handlers in the game.

Miami finished fourth in the Mid-American conference in one of the highest rated of the young boys. The other members of the conference are Ohio, U., Butler, Western Reserve, Western Michigan and Cincinnati. The Bearcats are well rated this year's squad winning six of their first nine games and are only two games behind the Bearcats.

So far this season, Foster lost only three members of this team, one of these being a starter. Also Foster will be able to count on the services of his freshmen on the squad for added strength.

TRACK

Coach George L. Rider has been turning out championship track teams at Miami for 26 years and this year proved to be no exception as the team won the Mid-American conference track championship.

During the indoor season the varsity team competed in the Central conference championship, Illinois Track Relays, Cleveland Knights of Columbus meet and the Pontiac Relays. Miami’s top 4×4 relay team of Walt Ewbank, Bill Ford, Ernie Woodbury and Bruce Thompson was among the most consistent point scorers during the indoor season. Freshman John Hagen was the race season in the Drake Relays. The Mid-American conference meet the All-Ohio College meet and the six dual meets. This year, teams made an up and down showing in dual meets. They lost to the University of Notre Dame by two points and Michigan Normal by two points and then came back and beat Louisville (Kentucky state champions) by over 50 points and the University of Dayton by over 100 points. The team made a good showing in the All-Ohio College meet.

Outstanding men on this year’s squad who will be back next year are Walt Ewbank in the quarter mile, Bucky Walters in the pole vault and Mike Gravata in the two miles.

TENNIS

Under the leadership of Coach Al Moore the Miami tennis team experienced a fair season and ended competition with approximately a 50-50 average.

In the opening match with Defiance, the local team was defeated. However, in the next match with Ohio U, they started a winning streak by edgeing the Bobcats. Miami had trouble in its dual matches against Ohio State and fell to the Beavers 6-3. A very strong University of Cincinnati squad crushed the Redhaws 9-1 in the same week but the Tribe bounced back to take two straight games from Kenyon 6-3 and 8-1.

In the next week the Redshirts from Purdue edged the Redhaws 5-4. In a return match with Cincinnati the squad was again defeated by a 6-1 margin.

Tribal players in singles play were Bob Kussen, Chris Boyd, Sam Sorelle, Don Shannon, Jim Carrillo and Jack Cummins. Bob Anderson and Bob MacGill team to

CROSS COUNTRY

The undergraduate students of Miami University in the fall of 1947 completed a highly successful season in which they won the dual meets against the University of Cincinnati, Western Michigan, Marshall, and Butler. They won the Mid-American Conference meet, placed seventh in the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet and brought the men’s team to a victorious victory over the Mid-American Athletic Association over the University of Cincinnati on Thanksgiving day.

Mike Stabile, a sophomore from Cleveland, was the outstanding scorer of the season. Some of the other outstanding athletes included Ted Wrolick, Bruce Thompson, Jim Halvorsen, and Jack Defeo.

The 1947 cross country season was the first successful season in which Miami University entered the Mid-American Conference.

The Mid-American Conference schedule for the 1947 season included:

Oct. 8—Indiana, Bloomington, Ind.

Oct. 24—Ohio, Columbus, Ohio

Nov. 13—Mid-American Conference meet at Cincinnati

BOXING

Chicago Jay Colville’s boxing team enjoyed a successful season last year with probably the best squad since before the war. Stan Roskowicz, a light-heavyweight, was the Miami representative in the Chicago Golden Gloves tournament last February. Miami pugilists enter the ring and all emerged victorious. Three won gold belts: Bill Duff, Red Lewsick, Bill Davidson; Ted Jones and Jack Ward, Herb Laddie, and Roskowicz, who saw action on other nights, rounded out the squad that fought in Dayton. Roskowicz defeated the defending champion in the finals. In his first Chicago bout, he defeated Bob Bresna, Carter Rayfield, Kane, but lost to Dick Fane, Omaha, Nebraska, the following night.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Intramural activities, after the lean war years, have returned to the campus. Miami has always enjoyed a well-rounded intramural sports program which is now able to present to the student body. This program is still under the able direction of Prof. T. P. Von Voorhies. As he is known to everyone, is aided by physical education majors who help instruct, officiate, and draw up schedules.

Although the regular fall semester school year is divided into two semesters, the intramural program falls into three: fall, winter, and spring. With the opening of school in October, the fall season begins with an intramural football league which sees the spotlight until the weather turns colder. Then Miami football is postponed and continues until Thanksgiving Day.

When the weather no longer permits outdoor activities, the scene shifts to the gymnasium of Welshrow Court. A varied program is carried on consisting of basketball, volleyball, badminton, wrestling, fencing, and handball. These sports hold prominence until the semester ends in February.

During the spring, the program once again returns to the outdoor courts where softball, baseball, and track lead the way. In the past several years two sports—tennis and golf—have become more and more popular and new spring tournaments in each activity is a regular feature.

Since Miami is not yet equipped with a recreation center, the municipal pool of Oxford is made available to the students. It remains open throughout the summer.

Leagues are formed in each activity to promote the spirit of good sportsmanship and fair competition. Interest is high as teams are made up of all fraternities, dormitories, and any group that desires to participate.

COED ATHLETICS

Each Miami coed is ready for a lot of fun and competition when the time comes for her fall quarter term and travels to Hanson from the fall semester. On course, the time for sports. By this time that you will have your first acquaintance with the physical education faculty, who will be able to answer any question you may have. They will give you guidance and advice on your choice of sports for the year.

Miss Margaret E. Phillips is head of the physical education department, and her assistant, Miss Margaret A. Show, will explain that one team sport, two individual sports, and one rhythmic activity are required for graduation. These requirements may be fulfilled in the freshman and sophomore years, but seniors and juniors may take any courses they would like to have more training in.

Miss Martha Bryant will explain that the fall sports include tennis, baseball, archery, camping and paddling, volleyball, tennis, golf and horseback riding. For those who have had previous training in golf or tennis, intermediate classes are offered.

After Thanksgiving, water sports get underway. Miss Louise Watson, Miss Kellogg, Miss Price and Miss Julia Denham will help you decide on one of the courses offered at this time. Swimming, boating, fencing, motoring, ball or bat tennis, dancing, gymnastics and basketball are all scheduled for winter.

With the arrival of spring and warmer weather, comes outdoor fun. Golf, tennis, archery, riding, camping and skiing, and baseball lead the way for the last quarter sports.

There is also a hobby shop of which Miss Jeanne Bennett is in charge. She also teaches a course in camp leadership that is given at the end of the regular academic term at the YWCA cabin.

WOMEN’S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

No matter what season of the year, the Women’s Athletic Association provides every athletic-minded girl on campus the opportunity to participate in her favorite sport. The association has a two-fold purpose: to encourage good fellowship, sportsmanship, and good scholarship, and to promote interest and participation in every type of sport. Miami women may obtain membership in the organization by earning credit points. These may be earned by taking part in art, music, and other extracurricular activities.
one sports activities throughout the year and by working on service, such as taking "hot days" of limited groups, working in the bakery shop, selling student directories and helping on committees for social functions of the WAA.

Throughout further participation in such activities, a woman may receive a rapid pin, a gold pin, two years; a white jewel with the Miami seal on her third year, and a glistening silver bracelet as the highest award for four years service.

Every year WAA sponsors certain social functions which have become traditional on Miami's campus. The freshman party, one of the year's first events, is given to help all newcomers become acquainted with the other members of the organization and find out more about its activities and accomplishments. Two of the high spots of the WAA social calendar is the posture contest, held in the early spring. Other events of interest are the folk dance party, the varsity party, the space picnic, and the Cornells' rectral.

Among the more recent accomplishments of the Association has been the acquisition of a ten-past cable located about three miles from Oxted, the lovely cabin, set in the middle of the most beautiful scenery of the vicinity, accommodates 18 members in four-wait overnight quarters.
